CFLS Memories

Former Executive Director, 2006-2015

I have so many memories from seeing clients become self sufficient, winning grants and establishing new programs, and inheriting a financial deficit and retiring and leaving a surplus of one year in operational expenses. My favorite memory comes from our summer environmental camp where the youth participated in an experimental environmental program "What Is Good In My Hood" under the direction of Aminata Ahmadu." They created a healthy urban ecosystem to improve their communities. My 2nd favorite memory is another experimental program for returning citizens. I developed and taught an intensive success program using Napoleon Hills Laws of Success. Everyone graduated and many persons were able to create opportunities for themselves. At the graduation ceremony so many family members came and mothers were crying stating my son has never finished anything. At CFLS, children, individuals and families left better off than when they arrived.

Former Manager of Youth Services

As the Manager of Youth Services, I was inspired to join the CFLS community to uplift and support under-served communities, in particular, young people of color.

My fondest memory of CFLS is watching the youth thrive as a direct result of innovatively securing grants and partnerships with Claudia Thorne (Executive Director at the time), who taught the youth to nurture and take pride in themselves and their communities.

Our partnerships with Groundwork Anacostia River DC, who led experiential learning in environmental stewardship, and Loving Yourself Through Creative Expressions (L.Y.T.C.E.), which provided therapeutic art and catalyzed their positive, continuous growth.

For FIFTY FIVE years, we have walked alongside women on their redemptive journeys of homelessness and incarceration. Together, let's renew our dedication to serving our community with passion, empathy, and purpose, ensuring that the next 55 years are even more impactful than the last.

VISION

CFLS envisions a world that through supporting successful reintegration of justice-involved women, we will reduce incidents of domestic violence, decrease homelessness and increase family stability.

MISSION

- Support the needs of female returning citizens both before, during and after incarceration
- Provide services to alleviate homelessness and overcome barriers to reintegration
- Educate our internal and external stakeholders
- Identify and raise resources for our clients and the work of CFLS

VALUES

- The dignity and worth of the whole person
- Meeting people where they are
- Focus on individuals and families
- Self-care and professional development for our staff, and community service providers
- Reading, writing and literacy as a core to clients becoming their own advocates

55 years of fostering hope and success

1969–1980's

FOUNDING AND EARLY YEARS

Founded in 1969 as a faith-based outreach of First Trinity Lutheran Church in Washington, D.C., CFLS began by providing emergency assistance—food, clothing, and temporary shelter—to low-income families. As homelessness and systemic poverty grew in the District during the 1970s and 1980s, CFLS expanded to offer case management and employment support, helping clients work toward long-term stability.

• 1990s-2000s BROADENING SUPPORT FOR FAMILIES

Throughout the 1990s and 2000s, CFLS remained focused on addressing homelessness and family instability. Programs centered on family engagement, mentoring, and supportive services to help parents and children build stronger, more resilient households.

2016-PRESENT

EXPANDING INTO REENTRY SERVICES

Recognizing the unique challenges faced by justice-involved women, CFLS expanded its mission in 2016 to formally include reentry services for returning citizens. Many women reentering society following a period of incarceration faced significant barriers, including unstable housing, unemployment, and a lack of support networks. In response, CFLS developed gender-responsive, trauma-informed reentry programs. As client needs evolved, CFLS deepened its commitment to holistic, trauma-informed services. Programs expanded to include:

- Parenting support for justice-involving mothers seeking reunification with their children
- Financial literacy and employmer... readiness programs to promote economic independence
- Health and wellness education, including behavioral health and trauma recovery services.
- Transitional housing and case management
- Legal supports

By the 2020s, CFLS had established itself as a leader in reentry services for women in Washington, D.C., addressing challenges like housing, domestic violence, homelessness, and generational poverty.

Advocacy: CFLS testifies at public hearings before the Council of the District of Columbia on issues related to the justice system, homelessness, and domestic violence, among others. We engage with legislators ensuring the directly impacted population has an avenue to share first-hand experience that can inform policy and practice.

Resources: Clients who have chronic health challenges, experienced domestic violence, who are homeless, or who have been to jail or prison often do not have the current information required to facilitate their forward movement.

- Launched in 2020, the Passport to Success App puts clients in charge of their own data, empowering them to have more control over their own life and their choices.
- Launched in 2023, CFLS placed community information kiosks throughout Washington, DC so reentry women and women who have been victims of domestic violence can stay connected to care and supports.

Education: CFLS provides a comprehensive continuum of programs with a key component to educate its clients on a myriad of topics to help them become self-sufficient.

- Our Financial Literacy/Home Buyer Program teaches clients to budget and save to gain financial stability in order to permanently maintain their housing.
- We Got You Covered Workshops are a status neutral approach to HIV education, testing and treatment that emphasizes a continuum of care no matter if a woman is HIV negative or positive.
- Safer Sex and Testing Parties are dedicated to not only eliminating the HIV/AIDS stigma and promoting prevention, but also sustaining the lives of individuals living with HIV/AIDS.
- Monthly Know Your Rights Seminars are hosted by the Legal Department to engage directly with the community while teaching the ins and outs of various legal topics.

Volunteer Impact

WE ARE SO GRATEFUL FOR THE 37 VOLUNTEERS WHO DONATED 309 HOURS OF THEIR TIME TO US THIS YEAR!

CFLS was founded by caring volunteers and continues to thrive and grow thanks to a vibrant and compassionate volunteer and donor community. Together, we can serve our community with passion, empathy, and purpose ensuring the next 55 years are even more impactful than the last!

On March 17, 2024 we were grateful to have Barber Tia King volunteer her time and talent to provide free haircuts to our male clients at Milestone Place.

EMERGENCY SERVICES established 1969

DROP-IN CENTER

CFLS began providing emergency assistance—food, clothing, and temporary shelter—to low-income families in 1969. Today, CFLS continues to provide emergency food and clothing to homeless and low-income families and individuals, as well as women returning home from a period of incarceration. Our Drop-in Center serves clients in our programs with immediate and unexpected needs and caters to those with short term needs who may not need ongoing case management.

Reentry women (released from jail or prison within the past 6 months) are particularly encouraged to "drop in" to receive an HIV test, access hygiene items, use our clothing closet, and get connected with our broader services.

DIAPER PROGRAM

The cost of diapers puts an enormous financial strain on struggling families, and in many cases, families are forced to choose between diapers and basic necessities. Since 2016, CFLS has partnered with the DC Diaper Bank. Through this unique collaboration, we were able to provide 1,975 diapers to 25 adults and 41 children to families in the Washington, DC metropolitan area this year. We provide diapers to CFLS clients who are single parents, low income, or affected by domestic violence and/or the justice system.

CASE MANAGEMENT

As homelessness and systemic poverty grew in the District during the 1970s and 1980s, CFLS expanded to offer case management and employment support, helping clients work toward long-term stability.

CFLS supports women returning home following a period of incarceration, improving their quality of life by providing a continuum of care. The continuum of care leads to permanent housing, employment, healthy parental relationships and mental and physical health support. We provide a safe space so clients can rediscover their own self-worth and develop new habits that reinforce self-love and self-care to reduce recidivism and incidents of abuse and incarceration.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICES established 1970-80s

OVERVIEW

Since the 1970s and 1980s, CFLS has continued to focus on employment support for its clients. Employment is one of the single most influential predictors that a person who has been incarcerated will remain out of prison, so today CFLS offers a myriad of employment services. To assist our clients in reaching their long-term goals of achieving quality employment, our programming includes virtual offerings to better address the barriers that they face when reintegrating into society after a period of incarceration. Services include:

- Writing resumes and developing career portfolios
- Facilitating career management and career decision-making workshops
- Working closely with new hire clients to ensure job retention and monthly outreach throughout the community

What impact has Milestone and its programming had on your life?

"Milestone provided a place to live and impactful resources to improve my life. Milestone has been a great journey for me. The amazing case workers and staff have helped me alot. Milestone has helped with shelter, job readiness support, mental health support, building a plan, and so much more. Milestone staff has always been a helping hand for me. Thank you, Milestone."

- Miranda

"Milestone has had a great impact on my life.

The program has taught me the importance of utilizing a calendar and applying patience. I am now capable of admitting and accepting the knowledge gained from my circumstances. It has allowed me to work to become a successful person once I complete the program.

When I complete the program, I would be able to help by reporting my success story and talking to other residents about how my patience allowed me to become successful. I would share how important sincerity is when in treatment and being honest with yourself and your Lord about changing your character and behavior, anger, attitude, etc."

— Anthony

HOUSING PROGRAMS established 1990s-2000s

IMPACT STORY

While in the program, participants receive case management and other appropriate supportive services.

TRINITY ARMS

COMMUNITY KIOSKS

In 2021, CFLS was funded by the Meyer Foundation and the Community Partnership to create the CFLS Community Information Kiosk. Eight kiosks were strategically placed throughout the District of Columbia in 2023 so women returning home following a period of incarceration and women who have been victims of domestic violence can stay connected to care and supports. In some situations, the CFLS Community Information Kiosk might serve as the last chance that a victim/survivor and their dependents can gather necessary paperwork, create a safety plan, and flee an abusive home. While the kiosk was designed with female returning citizens and domestic violence victims in mind, it can be utilized by anyone that has a need.

Jaz Jackson, CFLS Director of Reentry and Victim Services, and her client, Dionne, were highlighted in the Washington Informer on November 20, 2024. The article discusses the importance of supporting women impacted by domestic violence and incarceration with comprehensive wraparound services.
